Habitat for Humanity of Central Arkansas Hosts Orientations for Prospective Homebuyers

LITTLE ROCK, AR: Habitat for Humanity of Central Arkansas (HFHCA) will host four orientation sessions for prospective homebuyers in January. Attendance at one session is mandatory before applying for a home.

“We are excited to re-open our homeowner application window in early 2023,” says Kelly Fleming, executive director of HFHCA. “The orientation session will allow those interested in a Habitat home to truly understand the requirements, process and timeline of homeownership before spending time and energy on the application. We think it’s a great investment of an hour of their time.”

The sessions from which interested parties can choose are:

Tuesday, January 10th 4 p.m. on Zoom

Tuesday, January 10th 5:30 p.m., Administrative Offices in the Little Rock ReStore

Wednesday, January 11th Noon Administrative Offices in the Little Rock ReStore

Saturday, January 14th 10 a.m. Administrative Offices in the Little Rock ReStore

“We have tried to offer the sessions at a variety of times and ways to accommodate prospects’ schedules,” says Manuela Catic, manager of Homeowner Services. “We look forward to meeting those interested and to answering their questions.” To reserve a seat in one of the sessions, or to receive the Zoom link, contact Catic at 501-251-6757 or manuela@habitatcentralar.org
