Community in Action: Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity, Inc. Supports Ronald McDonald House During the Holiday Season

~by Tanisha V.

Little Rock, AR — This holiday season, the Little Rock (AR) Alumni Chapter of Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity, Inc. demonstrated the power of service and unity through a meaningful holiday giveback at the Ronald McDonald House. The event brought together fraternity members, volunteers, and community partners to present a donation in support of families navigating medical challenges during one of the most critical times of the year.

Surrounded by festive décor and shared fellowship, the gathering highlighted the fraternity's long-standing commitment to inspiring service in the public interest. The Ronald McDonald House serves as a vital resource for families whose children are receiving medical treatment, offering comfort, housing, and stability when it is needed most. reinforced the importance of community partnerships in sustaining that mission.

“Ronald McDonald House is able to support families through the generosity of donors and volunteers like Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity,” said Cadyn Qualls, Volunteer Manager. “They make our mission possible and are truly the heart of the House.”

For fraternity leadership, the event represented both tradition and purpose.

“We want to always give back to our community,” said Brian Pickett, Polemarch of the Little Rock Alumni Chapter. “The Ronald McDonald House plays such an important role in serving families dealing with health challenges and care, so we wanted to collaborate to support these families during the holiday season.”

Members also reflected on the personal impact of service. “Being here shows how to serve and help in the community by putting others before yourself,” shared Michael A. Banks. “It’s about learning to care for others.”
